Dannhaus stated that staff regards this request as feasible since CPNW will maintain the distribution system. Public Utilities Director Lowell Ogle noted that CPNW would finance the line extension.

Mayor Tate stated that in the event of a water shortage, CPNW should conserve water to a greater extent than City residents and City Attorney Cary Bovey noted that the agreement could include water supply restraints. Mayor Tate directed Ogle and CPNW Homeowner's Association President Stephen Miller to move forward with a plan to service CPNW with potable water.

Public Utilities Director Lowell Ogle presented the water service expansion benefits to the City's water system. Councilmember Goss questioned if Koehne will regularly request a rate reduction due to a drought and Rau stated his belief that Koehne will not request another discount.

Rau recommends Council approve the purchase of two used haul trucks for $39,000 each out of the current $717,623 in sanitation fund reserves and explained that the '99 Sterling will be placed on GovDeals.com. Rau introduced Sanitation Superintendent Bobby Branham and Mechanic Pat Draehn, who inspected both trucks, to answer questions. Branham explained that one truck will replace the '99 Sterling transfer truck which is no longer in working order and the other truck will save the City money in the long run because the sanitation department planned to purchase a truck in the next budget year.

Councilmember Ebel questioned the trucks' life span and Draehn explained that the oldest truck that still goes to Austin is a '94. Branham explained that purchasing two trucks enables the sanitation department to maintain trucks and create a better rotation. Draehn emphasized the importance of having a dealer close for parts.
